Episode 5: Featured Ride - Mazda Rx 7 Featured Member - Shaun Eberhardt

For those of you who know Shaun, you'll agree that he's a man of few words. When I asked him to write an article on his latest project he simply replied with a big smile, "You can just write anything".

I realised the only way to get some info on the project was a casual chat in the bar at Comrades after our committee meeting.

I asked him how he came found the Mazda RX7 and he simply replied, "it found me." After posing a few more questions Shaun began to relax and his obvious passion for cars took over. As you can see, the interior was pretty trashed and the body has taken a few blows here and there but these are minor problems to him.

Shaun started by stripping out the interior and then moved on to stripping the exterior in preparation for the Mazda's "makeover".

At this stage the RX 7 is at a local body-shop where it's getting a new coat of paint. The other details are still rather sketchy and if you ask Shaun for more info he'll just smile at you and say, "wait and see!"
